CONGRESSIONAL WAR NOT YET FINISHED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 20.—Speaker Cannon in an interview today called the Republican insurgents political cowards on account of their not voting to unseat him as Speaker, and in reply some of the insurgents say they will start a real war on Cannon now, and will fight to a finish. The insurgents voted with the Democrats on the matter of a new anti-Cannon committee on rules, but when it came to a proposition to declare the Speakership vacant, they stood by the Republican Speaker.

This, says Cannon, was cowardly. The retaining of Cannon as Speaker is said to have been due to a threat by the Republican regulars that if the insurgents helped the Democrats to unseat Cannon, the regulars would place Champ Clark, Democratic leader, in the chair.

In his comment on the result of the great political battle, Cannon says bluntly that the insurgents hadn't the nerve to carry their fight to the limit, and with characteristic frankness he applied the term cowards to them. They have the alternative of sustaining him or allowing election of a Democratic Speaker.

It is expected that the battle will be renewed in the House tomorrow. Cannon's defiance has greatly aroused the more radical insurgents, and if they can gather strength enough they will unseat him.

As the situation stands after the crisis of last week, all sides are unsatisfied.

The party leaders admit that a great political crisis, involving the maintenance of the national Republican party, is at hand. Cannon's spirited challenge to the insurgents is believed to have been based upon a belief that only a small proportion of them will go so far as to support a resolution to unseat him, but his most active Republican opponents are now planning to pass a resolution declaring the Speaker's chair vacant. If this motion prevails and the regular Republicans stand by their threat to elect Champ Clark, the House will practically pass into control of the Democrats.

President Taft declined to make any comment on the situation. Other Republican party leaders declare that the crisis is very grave.

MAY REACH PEACE MEASURES.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 20.—A settlement of the great street car strike is now believed to be in sight. A conference has been in progress for some hours between representatives of the railroad company and the strikers, and, according to report, an agreement is likely to be reached. The company has hitherto declined to enter into any negotiations at all, but was finally induced to meet representatives of the strikers. The conference is still in session at 3 o'clock this morning, with hopes of bringing the strike to a close.

NO POLITICS FOR ROOSEVELT.

SHELLAL, Egypt, Mar. 20.—Ex-President Roosevelt stated today that he would sail for New York on June 10, at the latest. The ex-President said he was very anxious to get home. He declined to discuss political affairs, but said that he would insist that any reception that might be tendered to him on his return be non-partisan.

Roosevelt emphatically stated that he would refuse to be made a part of any political demonstrations, and this is taken to indicate his intention to keep away from active politics.

PREDICTS DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 20.—The scenes in Congress today, in a continuation of the great anti-Cannon campaign, have not been paralleled since the sensational debates which immediately preceded the Civil War.

Champ Clark, the Democratic leader, made an impassioned speech, in which he declared that the Republican party was on a toboggan slide. He predicted a sweeping Democratic victory in 1912.

MORE GRAFT COMING TO LIGHT.

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 20.—More sensational revelations were made at today's hearing of the fire insurance inquiry. Evidence was given of direct payments of bribes to members of the Legislature to influence legislation regarding fire insurance matters, and it was shown that large sums were used in the Legislature.

MANY JAPANESE FISHERMEN DROWNED.

TOKIO, Mar. 20.—Many fishing boats have been lost in a violent storm. It is estimated that at least 500 have been drowned. The wrecked fishing boats are being washed ashore by the sea.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Mar. 20.—J. C. Maybray and thirteen associates have been found guilty of fraud by the Federal grand jury. The conviction breaks up the greatest swindling gang of the age, in the opinion of the government prosecutors. They estimate that Maybray and his associated gang have cleaned up ten million dollars in the last ten years. The defendants were convicted under the postal law of using the mails for fraudulent purposes.
